

1997
BIBLIOGRAPHY

A general all purpose bibliography of books which have come to my attention during 1996/97.
The titles will (in due time) be transferred to the proper bibliographies
Most of the books and articles which I have used for my daily work, in preparation for the courses and my scholarly work, are not listed.

Moore, Stephan D.,

God's Gym: Divine Male Bodies of the Bible. New York & London: Routledge, 1996.

BT 153 .F3 M66 1996

On the backcover:

"If man is created in the image of a perfect God, does the mortal body strive for physical perfection as well? Is bodybuilding part of God's plan for us?"

In this strikingly original work, Moore considers God's male bodies--the bodies of Yahweh, of the Father of Jesus Christ, and of Jesus himself--and our obsessive earthly quest for a perfect human form. GOD'S GYM is about divinity, physical pain, and visions of male perfectability.

Weaving together his obsession with human anatomy and dissection, and interest in the technology of torture, the cult of physical culture, and an expert knowledge of biblical criticism, Moore explores the male narcissism at the heart of the biblical God. What, asks Moore, is the New Testament about if not the torture and death of Jesus and the subsequent perfection of his body? The Gospels offer a promise: you too can have a glorious body like His if you are willing to pay the price. But there is no resurrection without crucifixion. No pain, no gain.

GOD'S GYM is an intensely personal book, brimming over with our culture's phobias and fascinations about male perfectability." - very honest and very disturbing
